Things to think about

1 - What do you think the most pressing policy topics are in education, employment or housing in your location that can be approached by a Reflexive Policy Making process?

2 - If you could do research in your location to identify the pressing policy issues that could be handled on a local level, what would be the research questions and which target group would you approach to get a better insight?

3 - If you could find the topic for RPM through co-creation with the target groups, what would be the general issue you would intend to narrow down and which target group would you work with?
